Professional Profile:

- A dedicated and responsible second-year student of the ITMO Physics Department. I am team player, ready to do my part and help teammates. I quickly understand new material and come up with effective solutions to existing problems. I love science and engineering activities. I am always open to new opportunities in my studies and work.

Work Experience:

Optical laboratory trainee | ITMO University

From February 2023 – to present time

Work on projects with your research group and help with writing articles.

Sublimation Project:

Modeling, experimental part

I carried out modeling and measurements in the laboratory of ITMO University. The result of the work was an accurate analytical description of the process and the coincidence of modeling with experimental indicators. I also helped write an article for the magazine.
